Walking from the First Amendment Wall on NAU Campus to the Charlie Kirks's Memorial at City Hall September 19th.

The murder of Charlie Kirk has affected our nation in profound and unusual ways, and has drawn a distinct line in our society of the difference between good and evil. The killing of a good man has brought good people out to gather together, to comfort each other and pray, and evil people to feel that they have the option to rejoice in his murder as they threaten his family and the rest of us with violence because we hold a difference of opinion than theirs. This is not the American way, and it starkly points out this difference between good and evil, truth and lies, and has begun to awaken many Americans to the fact that, in order to preserve our way of life, and our future; we have to become courageous and actually stand for good, and reject the evil, as Charlie Kirk showed us, giving his 'Last full measure of devotion.' Now it has become obvious to many of us that standing for what we believe, the way Charlie Kirk stood for us, is the only way to thwart that evil.
God Bless you all for taking this stand!
